A Reform Congregation

Volume 16 Issue 9

With Purim coming, Michelle Foels and I were having a discussion about Hamantaschen. My favorite Hamantaschen are made with a yeast dough and filled with mohn (poppy seeds and honey). They are the Hamantaschen of my childhood, my Grandmother's recipe, until a friend convinced her that cookie dough and prune filling were more modern (and less work). I was not a fan of the cookie dough, but my sister loved the change. My sister still makes Grandma's cookie dough, but the filling is now apricot, apple or cherry (her children and now grandchildren would not eat prune). Michelle's favorite are chocolate, an even more modern take on Hamantaschen.

As Jews, what we eat is an essential part of our holiday celebrations. URJ features recipes for different holidays throughout the year. For Purim, there are 25 recipes for a festive Purim (<https://reformjudaism.org/jewish-holidays/purim/25-recipes-very-festive-purim>) and 9 cocktails for a spirited Purim (<https://reformjudaism.org/jewish-holidays/purim/9-cocktails-spirited-purim>). I thought Marcy Goldman's "Queen Esther's Jaffa Poppy Seed Tea Cake with Orange Brandy Sugar Glaze" looked like a wonderful recipe for putting poppy seeds back into Purim.

I am a big fan of Jamie Geller (<https://jamiiegeller.com/>). "Haman's Ears With Halva Spreads" would be a big hit with my nephew's family while "Candyland Hamantaschen" would be devoured in my niece's home. I thought the "Crispy Persian Rice" would be a nice treat for Mike to make for me.

I am not sure how I managed to get on The Jewish Food Society's email list, but I am pleased that they found me. "Jewish Food Society is a non-profit organization that works to preserve, celebrate, and revitalize Jewish culinary life" heritage from around the world in order to provide a deeper connection to Jewish life" (www.jewishfoodsociety.org) From their mission statement: "At Jewish Food Society, we believe that family recipes tell the stories of how Jewish people live and love, how we celebrate and mourn; they carry with them the marrow of who we are as individuals, as families, and as a community. Jewish Food Society is dedicated to preserving and celebrating these recipes and the stories they tell in order to provide a deep connection to Jewish life and identity. We showcase the diversity of the Jewish experience and instill pride." For Purim, a recipe for Fluden (Layered Pastry With Poppy Seeds, Walnuts, and Apples) was shared by Yonit Naftali. Read more about her family in "This Family Holds On to the Past Through Their Purim Sweets". While browsing Amazon, I came across this cookbook: Recipes Remembered: A Celebration of Survival by June Feiss Hersh. "Recipes Remembered gives voice to the remarkable stories and cherished recipes of the Holocaust community. The first professionally written kosher cookbook of its kind is a moving compilation of food memories, stories about food and families, and recipes from Holocaust survivors from Poland, Austria, Germany, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Romania, Russia, Ukraine, and Greece." I love reading recipes and watching cooking shows. I am thinking about buying this book so I can tell Mike what I want him to cook for me!

SHABBAT SERVICES

We meet at 4023 Belle Terre Blvd., Myrtle Beach, SC 29579.

Our Friday evening services begin at 7:30pm. Saturday at 10:30 AM. Members who cannot physically attend Friday night or scheduled Saturday services can view services via Zoom. Contact President@templeshalommyrtlebeach.org to request a Zoom invitation.

This week's Torah portion is called Mishpatim, which means "rules" or "laws." It then follows with a list of the mitzvot or commandments which the people are to follow. This is not the only list of commandments in the Torah. These commandments along with many others appear throughout the Torah. In fact, the tradition teaches that there are 613 commandments in the Torah. And the Torah makes no distinction between what we would consider ethical commandments and ritual commandments. Thus, this week's Torah portion contains commandments regarding the treatment of slaves, the consequences of committing murder, kidnapping or cursing one's parents; the responsibilities of one person to another in cases of damage or neglect; concern for the stranger and the poor and the widow; warnings to judges and witnesses about honesty and fairness in court; taking bribes; making false charges; and stealing. There are also commandments dealing with the observance of the Sabbath, the sabbatical year when the land should be left fallow, the festivals of Pesach, Shavuot and Sukkot, along with those prohibiting the boiling of a kid in its mother's milk or worshipping idols, or even mentioning the names of other gods. Some of these commandments we would consider to be ethical commandments, dealing with how we should treat other human beings or animals. Other commandments, like the observance of Shabbat or the holidays or dietary restrictions, we would consider to be ritual commandments. However, the Torah makes no distinction between what we would consider to be ethical commandments, dealing with how we treat other human beings or other creatures and ritual commandments, which deal with our observance of specifically Jewish practices. All human beings should be bound by the ethical commandments. But the ritual commandments apply specifically to Jews.

In order to be an observant Jew, it is not enough to just observe the ethical commandments. All human beings should observe the ethical commandments. And to be a good Jew, you have to observe the ethical commandments. If we see someone who very strictly observes all the ritual practices of traditional Judaism, but in his/her dealings with other human beings is a thief or a nasty, hurtful person, that individual is not an observant Jew. To be an observant Jew, you have to observe both the ritual practices as well as the ethical and moral commandments of Judaism. Someone who strictly observes the ritual practices of Judaism, but is an unethical, immoral person, is a phony. He/she is not an observant Jew. But what about a Jewish person who is an ethical, moral person, but has abandoned all specifically Jewish practices? Is he/she an observant Jew?

The great modern Jewish thinker, Rabbi Mordechai Kaplan, said, "The past has a vote, but not a veto." For the religiously-liberal modern Jew, Judaism is like going into a cafeteria. You have a wide variety of selections to eat and you're not going to eat everything that cafeteria has to offer. And so Judaism has a vast tradition and you're going to find some things from the tradition no longer relevant to your life, just as you will find some things in the cafeteria you won't find appealing. But the more you select from the Jewish tradition, the closer you are brought to your Jewish roots. Judaism has much to offer. "The past has a vote, but not a veto." But we can modify past practices to meet our contemporary needs. And we shouldn't just reject the past without exploring it. Judaism can make our lives more meaningful if we just give it a chance.

Many of the 613 traditional commandments are no longer relevant today. Some of these commandments can only be observed in the land of Israel and others deal with sacrificing animals, which we no longer practice. And from a Reform perspective, there are some commandments which we just reject as no longer being relevant in today's world. But there are still many Jewish practices which still apply to us today.

So let's say there is a ladder stretching up into the heavens and each step on the ladder represents a Jewish practice. And someone on the 200th step of the ladder observes 200 Jewish practices, while someone on the 100th step of the ladder observes 100 Jewish practices. And the question is asked: Which person is the better Jew? The answer is not so simple. The answer may depend on whether the person is climbing up the ladder or climbing down the ladder.

Thursday, March 2, 2023 - 07:30pm - 9:00pm ET “If that’s all there is my friend, let’s keep dancing.” Leonard Cohen’s Waltz with Judaism, with Brien Brothman, Ph.D. He worshiped prayer and passion, sexuality and spirituality, Self and Other. Deeply rooted in and intimately acquainted with Judaism, Leonard Cohen (1934-2016) wrote songs that wanted to be poems and poems that wanted to be songs, writings that also often seemed to give off prayerful vibrations. Though to some he came across as a modern Jewish prophet, others have described him as a “pop saint.” The Book of Cohen – his novels, poetry, and songs – bears the stamp of Judaism, and its storied history. That history partly shaped his lyrical response to what he regarded as God’s broken world. Join us for a discussion of Cohen’s eloquent dance through life, and how it might speak to our own waltz – tango? – with God and Judaism, and with the contemporary world. Fee: $15. ## Temple Shalom Board Nominations

Why should you serve on the Temple Shalom Board?

1. Serving on the Board offers you an opportunity to contribute to your community and change lives in a palpable way. It is meaningful to contribute to serving our organization/family and its mission.
2. By joining the Temple Board, you are giving back to your Jewish community. Your participation maximizes your impact and supports a cause whose mission aligns with your beliefs.
3. Serving on the Board is critical to Temple Shalom's direction and future to ensure its services can be delivered effectively and efficiently.
4. When you serve on the Board, you have the honor, challenge and responsibility of understanding how everything and everyone needs to work together for Temple Shalom to accomplish its goals. It is invigorating.
5. As a member of the Board, your voice will be heard - and it has impact. You'll hear the impactful voices of others, too!

To contribute to something meaningful is an important reason to volunteer for the Board, but perhaps this should be stated differently: To allow something meaningful to contribute to you.

It works both ways. At least in my experience it does!

Temple Shalom is seeking volunteer leaders to join its dynamic Board of Directors. Nominations are formally open to all members in good standing. Board members will actively participate in the governance of the Temple and are expected to attend Board meetings, participate in one or more Board committees and represent the Board at Friday night and/or Saturday morning services. Each position carries a term of two years with the exception of Vice President. This position is for one year only, to fill a vacancy.

***The Board is in need of a variety of skills and more diversity. We have been operating for a long time with the same few people who volunteer for every program and event that has been offered by the Temple. Without these few people, we would not be able to offer the type of programming we have had in the past. To ensure the future of Temple Shalom, it is time for other members to step up and serve. *****

The Nominating Committee is now accepting names of those interested in running for a position on the Board. Please review the attached Nominations Notice outlining the responsibilities of each position.

If you are interested in being a candidate for Board service or have any questions, please contact Laurie Ward at laurie0153@gmail.com or Cookie Brenner at ebrenner1@gmail.com by April 1, 2023.

We certainly hope you will take an interest in running for a position on Temple Shalom's Board of Directors. Our future depends on all its members to participate.

Thank you for your continued support of Temple Shalom,

Laurie Ward and Cookie Brenner

What's Happening at Temple Shalom March 2023

PURIM LEARNING OPPORTUNITY: We invite you to join us, Rabbis from different smaller congregations across the country, as we gather on Zoom for "Musings on the Megillah," March 7th at 7:30 pm Eastern. We will come together to hear and wrestle with the challenges and blessings of the Book of Esther. It's a very adult story with many elements to consider and a text from which there is much to learn. You will experience the chanting of excerpts of the Megillah in Hebrew and English with short teachings to bring out the facets of this amazing story. Copy and paste the link <https://urj.tfaforms.net/901?id=7014u000001RUbg> for the program through the Union for Reform Judaism, a proud sponsor of this program.

Monday, March 13, 2023 - 12:00pm - 1:00pm ET Microaggression & Upstander Workshop
 This workshop will be interactive and focus on common microaggressions that community members from a wide range of marginalized backgrounds experience. During this workshop, we will learn how to identify a microaggression, common microaggressions in the Jewish community, and strategies to disrupt microaggressions caused by others, as well as those (inevitably) caused by ourselves. This workshop is open to all.

IF YOU SEE SUSPICIOUS OR CONCERNING ACTIVITY, please contact local law enforcement and/or the relevant suspicious activity reporting authority.

Another way we've committed to combating antisemitism and hate in the Lowcountry is through the creation of the first Joint Incident Reporting Tool, in partnership between our Federation, the ADL Southeast, and Secure Community Network. Now, when you witness an act of hate, you can report it so that all three organizations can collaboratively respond, investigate, and track patterns of similar incidents around the state.

*The Secure Community Network (SCN), a 501(c)(3) nonprofit, is the official homeland safety and security organization of the Jewish community in North America. Founded in 2004 under the auspices of The Jewish Federations of North America and the Conference of Presidents of Major American Jewish Organizations, SCN serves as the central organization dedicated exclusively to the safety and security of the American Jewish community, working across 146 federations, 50 partner organizations, over 300 independent communities, and other partners in the public, private, nonprofit, and academic sectors. SCN is dedicated to ensuring that Jewish organizations, communities, life, and culture can not only exist safely and securely, but flourish. ## Food Bank Collection

One can of soup, one package of pasta, a box of cereal and any nonperishable food product can make a huge difference in the daily life of a hungry, homebound senior. The last few weeks I have found very few donations which I can bring to an organization which supplies these to the needy. Please bring just one item each time you come to Temple, Put it in the box near the coffee set up, or give it directly to me and you will be doing a tremendous amount of good!

Thank you all so much!.

Flo

DONATIONS AND DEDICATIONS TO TEMPLE SHALOM

Dedication donations to Temple Shalom can be made in several ways.

1. DEDICATE A HIGH HOLIDAY OR MISHKAN T'FILAH PRAYER BOOK in honor of, or in memory of, a person or event. The cost is $50.00 and a Dedication placard will be placed in the front of the prayer book.
2. MEMORIAL BOARD PLAQUES (for or by members only) can be ordered by filling out this form and enclosing payment of at least $100.00 of the $200.00 total cost per plaque. Memorial board plaques are ordered and take at least six weeks to be completed. The remainder of your payment is due within a year from the order, but appreciated as soon as possible.
3. TREE OF LIFE PLAQUES (LEAF) (for members only) commemorate a happy life occasion and are the memory board of Temple Shalom. Each small plaque (leaf) is $50.00 and large plaque (leaf) is $75.00. It takes approximately one week to process and engrave. Commemorate special events such as birthdays, anniversaries, graduations, grandchildren events, and any other life events we all love to celebrate.
4. HIGH HOLIDAY DONATION is a great way to make an annual donation to Temple Shalom.
5. CHAI CLUB OF TEMPLE SHALOM is a unique way to support Temple Shalom with a donation of $18 per month per individual. The club is open to everyone. This can be set up on a monthly pay basis or $216.00 per year. There are no club meetings or responsibilities.
6. Yahrzeit is a wonderful way to remember loved ones who have gone before us. Congregation members receive notices prior to Yahrzeit observances.
7. IN MEMORY/HONOR OF is a tribute on behalf of someone who is special in your life.
8. GENERAL DONATION is a way to support Temple Shalom and is a mitzvah (good deed). Donations are greatly appreciated.
